

Municipal League Enters Fight To Protect Village Plans--

(CNS) Controversy over control of unincorporated areas flared again Friday, Superior Judge Walker Butler permitted the Illinois Municipal League to intervene on behalf of the villages of Park Forest, Park Ridge and Glenview in their suit seeking to retain control of area within 1 1/2 mile radius of their limits. (Area towns have contributed money to prosecute this suit).

The Illinois Municipal League consists of about 900 member cities, villages and incorporated towns in the state. It is specifically authorized by Illinois statute to "disseminate information and research services, and....do all other acts for the purpose of improving local governments." The three villages are contending that in amending the municipal zoning laws last year the legislature made an obvious error in wording which has resulted in confusion over interpretation.

Attorney General Clark ruled in agreement with the villages on Jan. 10, 1962. He stated that an error of transcription had been made which, if interpreted literally, would make large sections of the Municipal Code "absurd." He said that it would nullify statutory provisions relating to police protection, health regulations, cemeteries, abatement of nuisances, water supply and sewage.

States Attorney Daniel P. Ward, however, has ruled that the code must be interpreted literally, and Cook County authorities have been acting according to this ruling.

Several plats of subdivisions have been recorded without prior approval of the villages within 1 1/2 miles of their borders by Sidney R. Olsen, Chief Recorder of Deeds.

Attorney Edgar J. Kelly, speaking for the Municipal League said, "This action involves the construction of a statute that is of vital concern to all municipalities in counties that have zoning ordinances."

He continued, "If there is an adverse decision sustaining Ward it will affect eleven densely populated counties in the state."

"Other states attorneys have indicated to us that they want to follow Clark's opinion," he said, "if Ward's opinion is determined to be correct, other states attorneys will be obliged to act accordingly."

MRS. EDWARD HOVI
Mokena 5740

There will be a meeting of the Summit Hill school board at the school on Monday evening, April 2, at 8:00 p.m. These are open meetings at which all interested persons may attend.

If you have any suggestions for the school board or any complaints to make, the monthly meetings are a good opportunity to bring up such matters.

With the school board election only a little over two weeks away, it is time to give thought to the candidates for these positions.

The Arbury Hills Civic Association will hold its regular general monthly meeting at the school on Tuesday evening, April 3, at 8:00 o'clock.

During the past two weeks four of the members of the safety committee have been trying to contact all the residents of Arbury Hills by telephone.

These calls are being made to determine whether or not there is sufficient interest in the formation of a Civil Defense unit for Arbury Hills which would be separate from the unit which is now in operation in Mokena.

If, because of an unlisted telephone or because of not having a telephone at all, you were not contacted, you may indicate your interest by calling Edward Hovi at Mokena 5740 to tell him of your interest in working on Civil Defense.

The Arbury Hills Kindergarten Organization held its general membership meeting at the home of Mrs. William Lachowicz of 9406 West Willow Lane, on Tuesday evening, March 20. The next general monthly meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Hayden of 9436 West Pine st., at 8 o'clock Tuesday night April 17.

The Bingo club will hold its regular monthly get-together at the home of Mrs. William Watkins of 9425 West Hickory Street, on Thursday evening, April 5, at 8:00.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Way of 9522 West Hickory Street became the parents of their first daughter, Lorraine Ann on March 8 at the Silver Cross hospital in Joliet. Lorraine Ann weighed in at seven pounds thirteen ounces at birth. She has one older brother, Michael who was one year old last week. Both mother and daughter are doing nicely.

Clear Driver of Drunk Charge in Fatal Crash

Driver of the car that was involved in the collision in which Harold C. Heisner, 21, of New Lenox, was fatally injured was freed of a drunken driving charge by a Will county court jury last week. Seven men and five women made up the jury.

The defendant in the case was Floyd Ambrose, 23, of 419 Harwood street, Joliet.

The accident occurred on Dec. 31 of last year on U.S. 30 east of New Lenox, and Heisner died the next day, the first automobile fatality in Will county for 1962.

Ambrose testified that he had had one bottle of beer in a Lockport saloon and another in a bar at Elwood prior to the crash. He said he was tired, having just finished working a double shift.

The bartender at the Elwood saloon told the jury that actually Ambrose had but half a bottle of beer in his place because the defendant had upset it and lost about half of the contents. The bartender testified that after Ambrose had knocked over the bottle he - the bartender - refused to serve him anything else to drink.

It was charged that Ambrose's car collided with the auto driven by Heisner. The trial lasted two days with the jury reporting on Wednesday afternoon of last week after deliberating an hour and a half. Judge John C. Cowing presided. Assistant State's Attorney Joseph Kirincich prosecuted the case and Thomas Vinson was attorney for the defense.

HERE'S ONE FOR THE BOOK and we don't mean Emily Post's of Amy Vanderbilt's because we don't believe they cover the subject. But if anyone has a book devoted to the screwy and oddball happenings that enlighten this scheme of things then this is for that. The dog you see here is Reka Krasl (We just spell-not pronounce it) a miniature Schnauzer that belongs to Mrs. Christine Becker, operator of a beauty parlor on Haven avenue, New Lenox. Last Thursday Reka had five pups and the day previous friends of hers and Mrs. Becker gave her a shower. The usual picture of a new canine mother shows her surrounded by a hungry horde that can't see but are smack on the beam for a landing at the food center. But we decided to let this one ride. It's different. Not only did the shower come as a surprise to Reka and Mrs. Becker but the photographer exhibited some surprise himself and when you surprise a news photog, you know you have something that is way out screwy. Fewer Curfew Violators Than Expected; Report Shows

(CNS) Eleven violators of the curfew law for unincorporated areas were apprehended in the first weekend of enforcement, including nine in one automobile, Capt. Nathan Klein of the Juvenile bureau reported Monday to Sheriff Frank Sain.

The nine were found in Jurgens Woods, 185th near Lansing, and another car stood nearby, empty, but they had moved over "apparently for warmth", Capt. Klein said.

The other two were solitary boys, both walking near 79th street and Harlem. One was two blocks from his home at 11:50 p.m., twenty minutes after the curfew Saturday, having walked from his sister's house at 63rd and Cicero, and the other was walking home from a drive-in, having missed his ride, Capt. Klein said.

In all cases parents of the less-than-17-year-olds were notified that another offense within a year might result in $50 to $100 fine for them, not the minors. The names were not made public.

The 11 were the only actual first offenders found out of 47 youngsters "contacted" by four juvenile squads specifically assigned to the Friday and Saturday night patrol and other highway police squads running across such violations.

Thirty-two of the 47 were found to be 17 or over, including 24 boys and eight girls, while another four were proved to be coming home from work, including three boys and one girl.

"On the whole, offenders were less than we expected, most likely because of the publicity," said Capt. Klein. "We sent out 5,000 folders explaining the law to each of the three highway stations, out of 20,000 delivered, and will get another 80,000 tomorrow which will go also to 24 high schools including parochial."

The ordinance makes it unlawful for any boy or girl, not accompanied by a parent, legal guardian, or "other proper companion of the age of 21 years or more," to be in any public place in Cook County unincorporated areas between the hours of 11:30 p.m. and 6 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights, and between 10:30 p.m. and 6 a.m. on other days of the week. Youngsters lawfully engaged in an occupation are exempted.

The other Cook county bank listed as a contributor was the National Bank of Palatine. Our thanks to these banks for their contribution to the foundation, and their deposit to the future of Illinois 4-H members.

Soybean varieties recommended for Cook county are: Chippewa, Lindarin, Harosoy, Hawkeye, and Adams. These are arranged in order of maturity. Chippewa being quite early, does not yield as well as some of the later maturing varieties. However, don't discount the importance of Chippewa if you plan to plant a large acreage with beans. The earliness of this variety may be of great benefit in balancing the workload at harvest time.

Illinois Cattle Feeders Day will be held Friday, April 13 at the University of Illinois. The program will be of interest to anyone feeding cattle, particularly reports of the most recent research concerning the use of vitamin "A" in rations for beef cattle.

A recent dairy publication made the following statement which I believe is true: The cow, in the process of changing feed to milk, screens as much as 7/8 of the strontium "90" from her diet of plant crops. This should reduce by about 88% the scare tossed at milk drinkers through the recent publicity about strontium "90".

The 4-H program is expanding. We now offer an Automotive Care and Maintenance project. A meeting, for anyone interested in the 4-H Automotive project, will be held Monday, April 2, at 8:00 p.m. at the Tinley Park Farm Bureau building.

The University of Illinois is holding Open House Saturday, April 7, for all high school students interested in agriculture or home economics. Starting at 9:00 a.m., prospective students will learn about educational and career opportunities, scholarships, admission, requirements, housing, costs and campus life.

Tuition scholarship examinations will be held in every county in Illinois on Saturday, March 31. The examination will decide winners of scholarships worth as much as $800 at the University of Illinois. A minimum of six are available in each county, with additional awards made in proportion to population. Over 100 are available in Cook county.

YOUR CANDIDATES ANSWER

Since the Primary Election is coming up April 10 and because there is some confusion on how some of the candidates stand, we have submitted six key questions to some of the nomination seekers for their answers.

Following are the answers from the three candidates for Republican Nomination for State Senator from the 41st District. Although the Democratic candidate for State Senator from the 41st district, George R. Simon of Elmhurst was given the same set of questions, he has declined to answer them.

Krusemark's Answers

1. What is your position regarding a state income tax? What is your stand on the judicial amendment referendum?

1. I am definitely opposed to any state income tax. History has proven that any such tax always increases in rate and becomes an ever-increasing burden. As to the judicial amendment referendum, I am generally in favor of this as a step in the right direction to the improvement of our judicial system. This has been recommended by the Illinois Bar Association.

2. Do you believe the present state expenditures for welfare and relief, especially ADC, is in the best interest of the taxpayer. If not, what would you propose to correct the situation?

2. Present state expenditures for welfare and relief are running at a very high rate. It is projected that there will be a deficit $140,000,000 for the next biennial in Cook County. The big problem centers around the Cook County situation with the aid to dependent children. I am in favor of a complete study being made of the legislature, especially as it applies to aid for illegitimate children.

3. What type of legislation would you support to eliminate vote frauds?

3. The recent amendment to the election code and the schools which are being conducted for instruction of judges and clerks of election are very beneficial. Vote fraud occurred primarily in the Cook County area. The complete use of voting machines would eliminate the paper ballot frauds.

4. Are you in favor of raising the tax on race tracks?

4. A complete review is required of our revenue system and of the various sources from which we are obtaining revenue. It would appear that one of the areas from which we could receive additional revenue would be an increase in the tax on race tracks and the wagers thereon. I believe that much more emphasis should be placed on economy of government rather than taking for granted that we must have new taxes.

5. What methods do you propose to put the state on a solvent financial basis. Are there any areas where state spending can be curtailed?

5. I am definitely opposed to the State of Illinois operating on a deficit spending basis. We must live within our budget and not appropriate more money than can be obtained from present sources of revenue. Great strides can be made in economy in government and the application of sound business principles to our governmental processes.

6. Is it the state's responsibility to aid mass transit systems such as the CTA? In what way?

6. I have not had the opportunity to study the mass transit situation in Cook County or to examine the revenue and expenditures involved. Primarily it is a problem for the Chicago metropolitan areas and would not appear that the State of Illinois generally should take on any financial obligations in this respect.

Very truly yours,
ALBERT H. KRUSEMARK

Fawell's Answers

1. What is your position regarding a state income tax? What is your stand on the judicial amendment referendum?

1. The present administration's state income tax proposal was nothing more than a naked grab for more fodder for political patronage, any type of an income tax would be illegal in Illinois without a Constitutional revision.

I base this opinion on the 1933 ruling of the Illinois Supreme Court which declared a graduated state income tax illegal in the state without Constitutional changes.

I believe the Court also clearly indicated any income tax passed by the General Assembly would be void. I believe Illinois can never have a state income tax unless it is approved in a state-wide referendum by the people.

Attempts to make the state income tax question a major campaign issue on the pretense of an individual stand was playing politics.

It doesn't matter what an individual legislator says or how he stands. The choice will be and should be the peoples.

Undoubtedly changes in the revenue article will come before the next session of the General Assembly. When this happens Republicans MUST be ready with a POSITIVE program. This program must eliminate any chance of new taxes being heaped on top of existing taxes. This program should aid in equalizing the tax burden so that homeowners no longer bear the disproportionate share they now do.

Here is a program I would support when, and if, the state income tax comes before the next session of the state legislature.

A state income tax cannot, and should not, be decided by the General Assembly, but should be presented to the people in a state wide referendum. I would vote to have this measure go before the voters only if:

1. The personal property tax were first abolished.

2. All sales taxes were abolished.

3. The income tax would be a flat percentage-rate income tax, not a graduated tax, with a constitutional ceiling. The legislature would not be empowered to alter that "ceiling" without first going back to the people in a referendum vote.

It is important that Republicans have a positive, well thought out, program to do battle with the propositions promoted by the opposition party.

JUDICIAL AMENDMENT REFERENCE - While recognizing the need for further judicial reform in Illinois, I cannot wholeheartedly support the forthcoming amendment because it would reduce the peoples' rights in selecting judges. The other parts of the proposed amendment are laudable. They are needed, I believe the voters of Illinois can give a better choice in the future. For these reasons I will neither campaign for or against the amendment.

2. Do you believe the present state expenditures for welfare and relief, especially ADC, is in the best interest of the taxpayer. If not, what would you propose to correct the situation?

2. Expenditures for welfare and relief are bankrupting this state. Payment for state aid should be based on demonstrated need.

During the 1961 session both houses of the General Assembly approved H.B. 215 allowing liens on the property of Old Age Assistance recipients to provide fuller recovery. This was good legislation. The type I would support in the future.

In addition "responsible relatives" of recipients of aid should be made subject to perjury for mis-statements as to need. A law of this type should apply to township relief, as well as state aid. Working mothers receiving Aid to Dependent children should be allowed to retain reasonable amounts of outside income so that they are given incentives and opportunities to go off the relief rolls in the future. The legislators should study the feasibility of establishing staff child-care centers, with ADC recipients making it possible for other ADC recipients to accept employment. A statewide work program for General Assistance recipients should be established.

In addition I would oppose attempts to reduce residency requirements for State Aid, Illinois already has the unenviable reputation as a State that pays irresponsible people for loafing and illegitimacy.

3. What type of legislation would you support to eliminate vote frauds?

3. This is an area I have not studied in detail and have not outlined any proposed legislation. This is probably because the 41st District is an area free of vote frauds. However, this does not mean we can afford to ignore the shameful situation in Chicago where the political machine obviously follows practices which, in fact, disenfranchises voters throughout the state.

4. Are you in favor of raising the tax on race tracks?

4. Yes!

5. What methods do you propose to put the state on a solvent financial basis. Are there any areas where state spending can be curtailed?

5. If elected I would join an economy bloc in the legislature. The chief problem in Illinois is not so much where to get more tax money, but how to get better returns on taxes already being collected.

The spending problem starts with the budget. Money must first be budgeted to be spent. I would propose the following five changes in state law.

1. To require the Governor to present his budget message earlier in the General Assembly's session. Present law calls for an April 1 deadline.

2. To change the report deadline for the Director of Finance. At present the Director files his report, and estimates, with the chief executive in January.

3. To increase the staff and budget of the Illinois Budgetary Commission.

4. To remove the Governor as a member of the Illinois Budgetary Commission.

5. To require the Illinois Budgetary Commission to hold public reviews of expenditures at regularly appointed intervals between and during regular General Assembly sessions.

During the 1961 legislative session the administration had six to nine months to map out a proposed budget and the House of Representatives had but 18 working days to wade through the three billion dollar proposed spending program of more than 50 departments and agencies.

A great problem is government efficiency. In 1950 -- a dozen years ago -- the Commission to Study State Government issued a report concerning efficiency. Items covered ranged from re-organization of state government to inter-departmental streamlinings. A few suggestions were adopted, most recently the revamping of duties assigned to the Illinois Public Aid Commission. But since 1950 there has been no comprehensive inquiry into the problems of efficiency. It is time for another, more far-reaching study. The survey is the first step. When it is completed the General Assembly must take the second.

There is need to re-examine the relationship between state and local spending.

6. What state government needs first is the elimination of political patronage pork.

For instance the Department of Public Works now supplies 1,000 more automobiles to employees than during the Republican administration.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction now has a department of bus-watchers watching bus-watchers who allege to be watching school buses. One of these political patronage plums was held by the DuPage Democratic chief until a group of newspapers exposed the "job".

During the month of January a total of 825 employees were added to Illinois state government agencies. The fact that this was the increase during the first full month of Gov. Kerner's "Freeze order" against increased payrolls speaks for itself.

State Aid paid only on the basis of demonstrated need would reduce spending.

Efficiency of operation with elimination of the duplication of effort would cut costs.

6. Is it the state's responsibility to aid mass transit systems such as the CTA? In what way?

No. In DuPage County the Chicago Aurora and Elgin went out of business. The people along the electric line charged the state should pay to put the train back in operation. The state refused.

But the General Assembly did pass legislation enabling the people of the area affected in DuPage to form a mass transportation district and levy a local real estate tax if they wanted the C A & E to run again. A vote was slated; the district's creation was defeated.

That is where I believe the responsibility should be -- with the people who use the transportation system. Taxes should not be collected in Cario to underwrite the operation of the Chicago Transit Authority, which is a profit-making venture at present.

1. What is your position regarding a state income tax? What is your stand on the judicial amendment referendum?

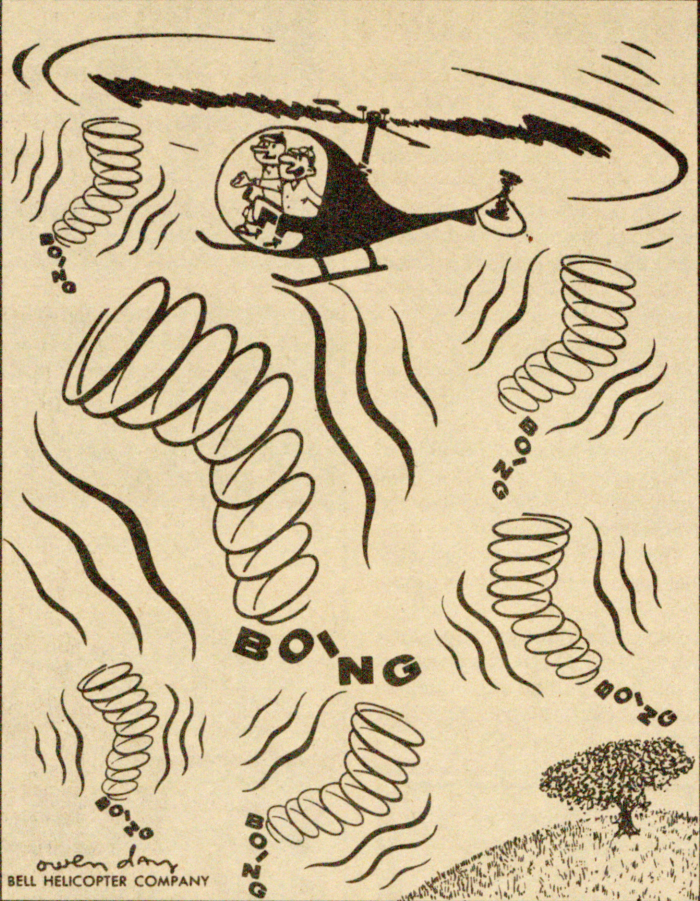

1. As regards a State income tax, I am opposed to adding a State income tax to our already too high a tax burden. I am furthermore opposed to any further additional taxes but feel that our concentration should be on the elimination of waste and duplication of services.

I would favor a referendum on the judicial amendment and would recommend its passage.

2. Do you believe the present state expenditures for welfare and relief, especially ADC, is in the best interest of the taxpayer. If not, what would you propose to correct the situation?

After some headway has been made in the above corrective measures, we could then re-study the state financial picture and we may well find that we are not only solvent but in very excellent condition financially.

"Don't you just love this Springy weather, Chester!"

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Jefferson P. Throtheadbottom, freeloader extraordinaire and a firm believer in the dictum "never stand when you can sit nor sit when you can lie down," was sitting and sipping at a noggin of bourbon to relieve a cold he had been treating in this fashion for the past 40 years.

The cold did not seem to benefit from such ministrations, Jeff admitted, but he said he found the treatment pleasant.

He was in a mellow mood and even went so far as to offer me one of my own cigars.

He gestured toward the window:

"Spring is here!" he said.

A mixture of snow and rain was hitting against the window, driven by a wind with an edge like the blades on a pro hockey player's skates and slush was piling up on streets and sidewalks. One could only hope that it didn't freeze or if it did it would freeze rough and not hip-breaking slick.

"Snow doesn't always usher in winter," Jeff went on, "but you can usually bank on it for spring. I just hope we don't get a blizzard-but it could happen; that is one of the things that really could happen here.

6. Is it the state's responsibility to aid mass transit systems such as the CTA? In what way?

6. Referring to mass transit CTA etc. it is true that this subject can be abused to the point that we lose sight completely of the objectives.

The state does assume the responsibility for providing some means of travel, whether it be by highway, railroad, bus, airplane or what - there must be a way for people to get to and from work and to get around over the state.

The state has spent huge sums of money building highways, super highways, ordinary highways, tollways, etc. and these of course are really accessible to anyone who has an automobile and can pay the toll to get on those where a charge is made.

The big difference in big mass transit systems that include railroad cars is that even though they are designed to carry people in the same sense as highways, there is a restriction in that the rider does not have free access under his own control as to time, destination, etc. but I believe that there is a primary consideration that is common to both highway and mass transportation systems, namely, the need for getting people from where they are to where they need to go and in and around an area such as Chicago where half million or more people move daily from the suburbs into the city and out again at night, the mass transportation systems are, I believe much more efficient than highways.

Therefore I see nothing objectionable in the state participating in a mass transportation system but I hasten to qualify this by saying that extreme caution must be used, otherwise the system would go through the kind of a disgusting history that we have seen in the CTA where for 15 years the private owners could not get one single penny increase in rates from the old seven cent fare but as soon as it was taken over by the CTA the fare jumped to 10¢ then 12¢ then 15¢, 18¢, 20¢ and 25¢ just as fast as the politicians could pull the levers to increase the rates, so in all fairness and honesty to the taxpayers and those who ride mass transportation systems, we ought to first consider some possibility of such a system being successful under private ownership if the politicians could be objective in their consideration of the need and of the things that would have to be done to meet this need.

I think the state certainly has a responsibility for the mass transportation of humans whether it be done through highway programs or some kind of a monorail or railroad or underground or whatever the means, the end result is the same people must get from home to work and back again and highways are a very expensive way to carry people.

I can see the old Aurora Elgin right-of-way in the western suburbs being used for an overhead monorail system that would not create any crossing hazards whatsoever and yet would carry hundreds of thousands of people every day, economically, efficiently and quickly and at much less cost than is possible by handling the same number of people on super-highways.

spring in Paris, Italy, England, Ireland, Scotland, Greece, even New England and I believe there is a song dealing with spring-time in the Rockies, altho I think that its stretching it pretty far but so far I have yet to see any poem specifically dedicated to Spring in Illinois.

"Assuming there is spring in Illinois," Jeff went on, "the question then arises--when does spring come in the land of Lincoln? And how does one identify it? Of course one can say, 'Well, it is not as hot as summer and not as cold as winter.' That leaves autumn. The difference between spring and fall is difficult to determine, temperature wise but it is really no problem--if the leaves on the trees are small and green it is spring, if they are red and yellow and brown it is fall.

"Thus one of the signs of spring is the appearance of leaves on trees. As far as that goes," Jeff continued, "there are many signs of spring, factual as well as legendary.

"Bock beer for one thing. That is legendary but it is also factual. One can still buy the stuff in saloons come spring but I believe most of it comes bottled now and not on draught. Bock beer is sold only in the spring and I suppose at one time it served a very useful purpose as a health toner-upper, along with dandelion, poke, mustard and other early greens.

"But shucks, with modern transportation to bring perishables to our reach within a few hours after they have been harvested and modern refrigeration to preserve them we are able to have vegetables and fruits on our tables the year around.

"Eating greens in the spring has become more of a ritual, a sop to tradition than a sure enough sign of spring. Kids playing baseball is sign and playing marbles is still a spring sport. Whether mumbleypeg or mumbletypeg or spell it your own way, can be counted on any more as a sign of a sign of spring depends largely on the area, and the same is true of kite flying. It seems to me that more kids are flying model planes than kites today and spinning tops appears to be a lost art.

"The spading fork, the rake, seed catalogs, the planting of flower beds and gardens, the budding of crocuses and hyacinths are all bonafide signs of spring and will make their appearance soon. Baseball is another sure fire sign that spring is here altho there will be days when the players would be more comfortable with long underwear under their outer garb.

"Farmers on tractors, with their noses red and their teeth chattering from the bite of chilling winds are still another sign that spring is here and that fields must be made ready for the planting.

"In your line of business, of course," and Jeff gestured to me with his glass, "you know it's spring when people begin calling to report having seen the first robin. And that," he went on, "brings up an interesting point--which is the true sign of spring, the robin or the report?

"One thing about the kind of winter we have just had--this spring can be chilly, wet and reasonably disagreeable but it will be better than the zero temperatures, the snow and the sleet and doubtless many of us will go about beaming and saying, 'Now this is something like it should be.'

"Yes sir," he said, pouring himself a refill, "spring is here with all its magic and I can hardly wait to get out of doors and feel the wind and sun on my skin and see the unfolding of new life...by June it should be pretty nice. Why don't you call me then or drop by and we can go for a nice walk in the open. I have been so cooped up all this winter that it will be nice to get out again and June is usually a nice month. One can usually turn the furnace off then."

NEW YORK - Vacation and holiday pay for more than 600,000 steelworkers in 1960 cost the steel industry nearly $210,000,000.

Steelways, official publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, said these two items--vacations and holidays--added nearly 25 cents to the costs for each hour the steelworker worked throughout the year.

Of this, vacation pay accounted for 19.5 cents, a combined total of $164,000,000. The other 5.4 cents, or $46,000,000, is attributed to pay for holidays not worked. The industry observes seven premium-pay holidays each year.

Steelways said that in 1960, the steel industry expended more than $759,000,000 in fringe benefits--a figure that constituted 24 per cent of the industry's total hourly employment costs.

Vote In The Primary

With contests on in both major parties this spring, the April primaries should attract many voters.

It is regrettable to state, however, that not as many people avail themselves of the privilege of voting in a primary as in a general election.

Many try to rationalize their action by arguing that the general election is more important because it decides the final winner. To us the primary is equally important because it determines who the candidates will be in the fall.

Whether a party will have a strong ticket in the general election depends upon the choices made in the primary.

Every election is important, if for no other reason than it provides us with the opportunity of voicing our opinions. There are so many countries where the people are without a voice in government.

Voting is a right and a privilege that we should exercise. It is also a responsibility.

There has been a tendency in late years to shirk responsibility and one place where such dereliction is only too apparent is in the vote at primaries.

There are many people who do not vote at primaries because for one reason or another they do not wish to be registered as an adherent of a particular party.

They do not want to offend anyone so they do not vote.

Yet one will hear some of these same people complain about the nominations.

If one doesn't vote in the primary, certainly he has no right to complain about the quality of the candidates that appear on the ticket in the fall.

It is a good thing to have convictions and it is a good thing to express them.

It is a duty to vote and one shouldn't shirk it in any election, particularly in a primary.

It would be a good thing for the nation if all of us were willing to stand up and be counted any time on any matter that affects the welfare of the country, the state, or the local field of government.

The Francis Road Grade Crossing

The flasher lights to give warning of train approaching the Francis road crossing of the Wabash have not been forgotten. They will be put in this spring, according to the information given the Will county highway department.

The county highway department, the state highway department, the town of New Lenox and the Wabash railroad are bearing the cost of the proposed improvement.

It has been many months since the Illinois commerce commission issued an order for the installation of the warning signals for the crossing but it was only last week that a copy of the formal resolution confirming the order was received at the county highway office.

The county engineer, James McCarthy, stated that according to information that has come to him the railroad has completed the plans and work will be started when weather permits. The railroad, which will do the work, is "waiting for spring," according to the best information available.

There are some years when such work could have been done during the winter but not this winter. Weather conditions were such this winter that out door projects--with the exception of clearing roads and highways of snow and ice--- had to be abandoned.

We will be glad to see the crossing project launched and trust the start is not too far away.

Four persons were killed at this crossing within a year and a half and it is believed that the installation of flasher warning lights there will prevent further fatalities. Of course, one cannot depend entirely on mechanical devices. They can fail and they do, so persons approaching a rail crossing should use caution and be alert.

Flasher lights will be of great help to motorists that cross the track on Francis road. It is difficult to see if a train is approaching until one is practically upon the crossing and at that point trains travel fast--freight or passenger.

Some drivers approach the crossing at reduced speed and with their cars under control. Others hit it at high speeds and are fortunate not to encounter a train because they have no control over their cars.

Safety devices at this crossing should not be considered an invitation to abandon caution and judgment.

Hints For Homeowners

JAMES FIZZELL
Ass't. Farm Adviser

Established trees benefit from fertilization before active growth begins. When growth begins, the nutrients from the fertilizers are then immediately available for uptake and use by the plants.

Although liquid feeding is usually more desirable for feeding trees than dry feeding, most gardeners do not have the equipment necessary. To get the most effective use of dry fertilizers on trees, the fertilizer should be placed in the soil rather than on top. With a soil auger or pipe, punch holes in the ground around the tree. The holes should be about one foot deep and should be spaced about two feet apart in circles around the trunk of the tree. Begin the smallest circle two feet from the trunk, and make the largest circle as large as the spread of the largest branches.

The amount of fertilizer to use depends on the size of the tree. A good rule of thumb is to apply 1 1/2 pounds of 10-10-10, 10-8-6 or a comparable fertilizer per inch of trunk diameter on small trees, and three pounds per inch of trunk diameter on trees larger than three inches in diameter.

Fruit trees growing in the lawn should be treated the same as shade trees. If there is no grass under the fruit trees, the fertilizer can be broadcast on the ground under the tree.

The amount of fertilizer to use on fruit trees depends on

Business & Finance

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND

The works of Karl Marx and his well known tome, "Das Kapital" have long received adulation from our pseudo intellectuals and some who are willing to overlook a few facts in order to achieve high political office. Marx expressed fear and distrust of the machine and its introduction into the factories.

He stated, "Machinery is the surest means of lengthening the working day. The constant tendency of capital is to force the cost of labor back to zero."

Each generation has its fear of mechanical aids in production with the thought that it will finally end in economic stagnation for the working man. This fear has been enhanced by some political figures who no doubt know better, but choose this means of attracting favorable attention from that segment of the population that have not had the educational advantages of these political figures.

Historically, it is well known that a nation's standard of living can be directly compared thru comparison of the installed mechanical horse power per worker. Some of our government agencies whose duty is to study and report on comparative living standards of various parts of the world, keep close watch on the amount of installed electrical capacity per worker, as a quick guide.

Capital for use in creating productive machinery, etc. is roughly that portion of a country's production which is not consumed by its citizens, but rather used to produce equipment which will itself be used as a productive tool.

Technology has been of the greatest assistance in creating capital for use in added production equipment. We now hear much about fear of automation. Some would like to freeze our industrial and social standards at present level and avoid further mechanical aids.

The wheel was probably our earliest piece of automated equipment and replaced the strong back and the sled in transporting items. Fire would have to be included in the list as it aided in use of food and enabled fewer people to prepare greater amounts of food, etc. The list is long. The adding machine and typewriter made possible or at least aided in making possible our present comparatively easy life under modern factory and production methods. Certainly the electrical union of New York which recently gained fame thru demanding a 25 hour week, would not want to wipe out past technical progress toward better living.

Manufacture of new machine tools is a very important business and analysts expect this segment of industry to show considerable gain during 1962.

Recently a vice president of John Hancock Life Insurance Co. forecast that on the basis of population and worker increase as well as obsolescence, that within the next 10 years, industry would require not less than $180 billion and very probably $200 billion, for use in acquisition of such new machinery and other tools of production.

the age of the tree. On trees up to five years old use 4 pounds of 10-10-10 or 10-8-6 per tree. On trees up to 15 years old use 10 pounds per tree, on older trees use 20 pounds. 10-10-10 or 10-8-6 is the analysis of the fertilizer. Many different brands of fertilizer carry these analysis. The analysis is the guaranteed percent of nutrients in the fertilizer and is printed on the bag of all good fertilizers. The numbers represent the percentage of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, in the order, contained in the bag.

The World Flower and Garden Show is now in progress at McCormick Place in Chicago. This show has been acclaimed the finest in the country. If you haven't yet, be sure and attend. Grade Band Prepares for Dist. Contest Saturday

EILEEN HOOLEHAN
Mokena 5153

The Mokena grade school band will attend the I.G.S.B.A. (Illinois Grade School Band Association) district band contest on March 31, at Laraway Grade School in Joliet. They begin playing at 8:30 a.m.

The band consists of forty-four children from the fourth through the eighth grades, all splendidly uniformed and trying desperately to learn their music in time. The numbers they will play are "The Oregon Trail" march by Ted Mesang, "Russial Choral and Overture" by Tchaikovsky, and "Tango for Band" by Glenn Osser.

The Mokena Band Boosters have purchased and authorized payment for thirteen new uniforms totaling over $650.00. This brings the total number of uniforms purchased to fifty-six, a total cash value of $3,360.00. There is no need for any special fund raising project this year to meet expenses because of the monthly children's dances which are held the first Saturday of each month at the Carpenter Street School, and also the activity of "Ways and Means" Committee throughout the year in their endless search for ideas with profit.

The band program at St. Mary's School is still growing. Three more students joined the band last week to bring the total number up to twenty-nine. The children attend band rehearsals on Monday and Thursday from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. The program is sponsored by the parents with additional help from the school in the purchasing of music and heavy band instruments. A concert is planned soon. Watch your News-Bulletin for the date.

The Mokena Garden club will meet on Tuesday, April 3 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Donald Guending, South Brightway. Co-hostesses for this meeting will be Mrs. R. H. Braeunig and Mrs. E.J. Burton. Ted Biernecki of Ted's Greenhouse, Tinley Park, will present a program on annuals-perennials and bedding plants.

The Mokena P.T.A. mothers monitored classrooms on Friday afternoon, March 23, so that the teachers could attend the funeral of Albert Cappel, husband of Mrs. Elizabeth Cappel, superintendent of Mokena public school.

The Sacred Heart Mothers club is planning a "Bonnet Luncheon" on Saturday, April 7, at 12:30 at the Sacred Heart High school. Tickets for the luncheon are $1.00. Three hundred hats will be on display and all will sell for $3.98. One dollar of this will go to the sponsoring organization.

The DeKalb Seed Corn Co. recently awarded a plaque to Otto Konow Sr. for the highest yield from their seed on any Will County farm. He averaged 118 bushels per acre on a five-acre tract in 1961. Otto Jr. came in second with just two bushels less per acre.

Approximately 90 men and boys attended the Father-Son banquet at Homer Church Thursday evening and enjoyed the delicious turkey dinner prepared by women of the church. The committee in charge were Mrs. John Hollister, Mrs. Otto Moravec and Mrs. Stanley Cox. Junior High Sunday School girls, directed by Mrs. John White, acted as waiters in a very efficient manner. The after-dinner speaker was Harvey Russell, director of the Joliet Youth Center. Guests were present from Joliet, Marley, Lockport and Manhattan.

Two saddle horses were either stolen or released from the barnyard at a home on 141st St. Thursday night. One was brown with black mane and tail, the other sorrel.

On April 1, Rev. Stanley Cox will use for his sermon topic "Excuse Me."

When Guy Bump, Rte. 7, arrived at Legion Park where he is employed as custodian, last Tuesday morning, he found that vandals had done considerable damage during the night, breaking windows and tearing boards from buildings.

At a recent meeting of the Country Charms 4-H club in the George Brown home on Hillcrest Rd., each member brought cookies for a judging contest. Bonnie and Connie Welter and Patty Brubaker placed first on drop cookies; Paula McCann made the best snickerdoodle cookies; Sandy Jungles topped the others with rolled sugar cookies, and Linda Ward with oat-meal krispies. Five guests were present, among them Judy Termunde, an eight-year 4-H member, also of Homer twp., who gave a demonstration on brownies and gave several pointers on giving cooking demonstrations at fairs.

The Country Charms received a red ribbon on their recent window display. The committee on "Share the Fun" met Friday evening in the home of Paula McCann in Lockport. The subject of the April 6 meeting will be "Serving."

Funeral services were held in Chicago Saturday for Mrs. Mary A. Jungles wife of the late John Jungles, former Homer residents. Burial was at St. Joseph's Cemetery, River Grove. She died in a Chicago hospital after a short illness, at the age of 82.

Surviving are two sons, Martin and John of Homer; three daughters, Mrs. Agnes Aspel, Madeline Rahn and Mildred Johnson; also 10 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Jungles was Mary Carllich before her marriage. She attended Ross school when a child.

The April 1 combined Lenten services of Lockport area churches will be held at the First Congregational Church, at 7:30 p.m. Pastor Laurin of Evangelical Covenant Church will speak. All are invited.

Dan LeGrand of 141st St., an L.T.H.S. senior, recently participated in the Illinois All-State chorus concert at McCormick Place, Chicago, at the Music Educators National Conference. He was one of 200 singers selected from 1800 who auditioned. Last year LeGrand was a member of the state Future Farmers' chorus.

Homer Man Dies When Crushed by Falling Car

Last rites for Maurice A. Worley, 64, 167th and Parker road, Homer township, who was accidentally killed at his home last Saturday, March 24, were held Tuesday morning from the Goodale funeral home in Lockport at 9:30 to St. John's Episcopal church there at 10. The Rev. Karl Bohmer officiated and burial was in Lockport City cemetery.

Mr. Worley was working under his automobile, replacing a rear spring, when the vehicle slipped off the jacks holding up the rear end dropped across his chest.

His wife, Elizabeth, summoned neighbors and the Homer volunteer fire department and by the time firemen were able to get there the neighbors had succeeded in getting him out from under the car. Firemen rushed the victim to Silver Cross hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival. Mr. Worley had been a resident of Homer township for the last two years, having come there from Chicago where he was employed by the Northwestern railroad for 22 years as an electrician.

He was a native of Shreveport, La. and has six sisters and four brothers who live there now. Mrs. James Trotter, Mrs. Donald Krueger, Mrs. Mac Brewerton, Mrs. Gerald Baldwin, Mrs. James Litherland, Mrs. Norbert Garvey, Wilbur, Charles, Allen and Ralph Worley.

His wife and a daughter, Marjorie, Mrs. Harry Macie, of Chicago and his immediate survivors.

Mr. Worley served in the U. S. Army in World War I and was a member of Auburn Park Masonic lodge and St. John's Episcopal church.

How The Common Market Affects U. S. Farmers

BY L.H. SIMERL
(Dept. of Ag. Economics)

Farmers have asked for more information about the group of nations in Europe that have joined together to form what we call the Common Market. Farmers ask what these countries buy from us now and what they are likely to buy from us in future years.

The Common Market group includes six regular members—West Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, France and Italy. Greece is an associate member. Several other countries, notably England, may join the group. The object of the organization is to improve economic conditions in the member countries. This is being done by eliminating tariffs and other legal restrictions on trade among the member nations. But the group will establish and keep uniform tariffs and other restrictions on imports from nonmember countries.

These countries seek to have free trade among the member countries just as we have free trade among our states. And just as our tariffs are the same at every port from Los Angeles to Boston, all of the ports in the Common Market countries will have the same tariffs.

These changes in trade policies are being made gradually, especially on farm products. It may be 10 years or more before the new trade policies become completely effective on agricultural products. Thus the impact of the Common Market on U. S. farm exports will be spread over several years.

Among the Common Market countries West Germany and The Netherlands are our biggest customers. Each bought about $323 million worth of our farm products in the year ending last June 30. All together the Common Market nations bought from us farm products valued at $1,130 million, or 23 percent of our total agricultural exports.

But these figures do not show the full importance of the purchases by the Common Market group. These countries are all good cash customers, while our exports to some other nations are largely foreign aid.

England (the United Kingdom) last year bought $467 million worth of U.S. farm products, 10 percent of our total exports. Thus England and the Common Market countries together take about one-third of all our exports. England is also a good cash buyer for our products. The countries of the Common Market are especially good buyers of cotton, soybeans, corn, wheat and tobacco. Last year they bought $270 million worth of cotton, $118 million of soybeans, $120 million of wheat, $103 million of corn and $86 million of tobacco.

England bought $160 million worth of tobacco, $105 million of feed grains, $59 million of cotton, $31 million of lard and $30 million of wheat and flour.

Whether our exports to the Common Market countries shrink or swell will depend in part upon how good we are at political trading. Our bargaining power consists mainly in being able to offer competitive prices on the products that we want to sell, and reduced tariffs upon the products that the countries of the Common Market want to sell to us.

Krusemark Hits Hard On State Income Tax

With the primary election date drawing closer, Albert H. Krusemark, Republican candidate for state senator in the 41st Senatorial District, has stepped up his campaign in Will County and DuPage County.

In his most recent appearances, Krusemark has hit hard on the question of a state income tax, which he considers one of the foremost issues of the day.

Krusemark has repeatedly declared his unalterable opposition to a state income tax in any form.

At Republican meetings in both Will and DuPage counties

last week, Krusemark has expressed himself as follows:

"My principal opponent seems to have issued a series of contradictory statements concerning his position on the state income tax. When this campaign originally began in January, Mr. Fawell stated that he would be in favor of submitting a referendum to the people of this state on a state income tax issue if it was a flat rate tax and if there was a ceiling attached. Subsequently, in a letter on March 2nd to the committeemen, Mr. Fawell had stated that he would be opposed to a state income tax as presented by the present administration in Springfield. In his last several public appearances Mr. Fawell has flatly stated that he is against a state income tax."

"In a press release from Fawell under date of March 15th in an interview with a newspaper it is stated that he favors a referendum on a flat rate income tax for the State of Illinois. Although there is some question, most authorities believe that no constitutional amendment is required for a flat rate income tax. A graduated income tax is something entirely different.

"My opponent states that the flat rate tax should have a constitutional ceiling. However, if the proposition of which he speaks does not require a constitutional change then such a ceiling means nothing. In fact, history has shown these ceilings are always raised and that many states at the present time have a 10% income tax.

"As to his original position concerning the submitting of the matter to a referendum my opponent did not say whether he would be for or against the proposition himself. In fact, he went out of his way not to declare himself on the matter. If he were opposed to the state income tax he would come out and say so in unmistakable terms. This has not happened.

"I originally stated in my first letter to all committeemen dated Feb. 2nd, 1962, that I was unequivocally opposed to any state income tax in any form. I stated my reasons for this position being, first, that history has shown that any state income tax even though it may start at a flat rate with a ceiling, the pressures always increase such a tax over a period of years and it becomes an ever increasing burden on the taxpayer. Secondly, that without a state income tax in Illinois it presents a very healthy climate for attracting new industry into our state which produces substantial wealth and revenue.

"I believe that as a Republican candidate for the State Senate it is imperative that a positive position be taken on many legislative problems that will appear. I believe that the people of the State of Illinois wish to have their legislators present a specific legislative program and advise their people of exactly their opinions. I

Educator Will Discuss European School System

Dr. Marshall Batho, Superintendent of Evergreen Park community high school will be the guest speaker at the next Lincoln-Way PTG meeting to be held April 4.

Dr. Batho just recently returned from a tour of Europe with several prominent American educators who were making a study of European schools including those behind the Iron Curtain.

The speaker will bring a number of picture slides which he brought back showing many of the schools in the countries that were travelled.

Dr. Batho has been superintendent of the Evergreen Park High School ever since its completion in 1955.

In addition to the Lincoln-Way parents, the public is invited to attend this program.

Lions To Erect Street Signs They Purchased

Members of the Mokena Lions club have several busy days ahead. Theirs is the job of erecting the new street signs for the village of Mokena. They not only purchased the signs but agreed to install them.

There are 53 locations and since each of the steel poles at these intersections will support signs that can be read 212 ways, the Lions have a bit of work to do.

The signs have green backgrounds and white lettering and beading so they will be seen by car light at night.

To finish paying for these signs the Lions will conduct a house-to-house campaign selling house numbers. The post-office has not changed its mind about Mokena and still says no to home mail delivery here, it was said, but numbering the homes will make it easier for mercantile firms to make deliveries, it was pointed out, and should the postoffice department change its mind the community would be ready.

11 Seek Places On New Summit Hill School Board

Eleven candidates are in the race for the seven seats on the board of education to be formed in the Summit Hill district, No. 161, east of Mokena, in the regular school election April 14.

Summit Hill had been operating under a board of three school electors but it has now grown to the point where it is to be governed by a seven member board of education.

Ten of those who had filed their nominating petitions with Will County School Superintendent Verne E. Crackel are men and one is a woman, Mrs. Thelma A. Estes.

The others are given in the order in which they filed their petitions: George Peterson, Hyman F. Gronick, John C. Hayden, Marvin B. Rognlie, John F. Smith, Samuel J. LaRocca, Clarence Laufer, Walter D. Plumly, James M. Sugg, Sr., and Ray Doner.

LaRocca and Doner are members of the Board of directors. LaRocca was elected last April to fill out a year of an unexpired term and Doner was re-elected last year for a three-year term. William Doogan, who was appointed last year to take the place of the late John Bettenhausen until the election this year did not choose to run.

The seven candidates receiving the highest number of votes in the April 14 election will be declared elected and will then cast lots for the one, two and three year terms. Eventually all members will be elected to three year terms.

The population of the district having now exceeded 1,000 it qualifies for a seven-member board.

FROM CONG N.M. MASON

TARIFFS PROTECT AMERICAN JOBS: Dr. Dean Russell, Professor of Economics at Rockford college, (Rockford, Ill.) in an article entitled "Tariffs Kill Jobs", carried in the February issue of "The Freeman Magazine," takes this writer apart for his position on the tariff problem.

Dean Russell says: "Congressman Mason dramatizes the jobs and industries that are threatened by the $16 billion worth of yearly imports into the United States. But he ignores the far larger number of jobs and industries that are involved in our $20 billion worth of exports."

On the surface that is quite an indictment, but let us analyze the statement a little to see if it makes sense. If we convert the $16 billion worth of imports into man hours of work at the going wage in Europe, about 80¢ per hour, we are importing 20 million man hours of labor. If we convert our $20 billion of exports into man hours of labor at $1.75 per hour, the average factory wage in the United States, we are exporting hardly 12 million man hours of work. Therefore they ship us the products of 20 million man hours of European labor, and we ship them the product of only 12 million man hours of American labor, a balance in their favor.

One hundred seventy years ago the United States began its existence. At that time the country of India had more natural resources than the United States. They still have more, but look at the difference. We started to build our economy and the first thing we did was put on a protective tariff. This protected our industries so we could pay enough wages to provide purchasing power, and it also provided revenue. Taxes would have to be raised to compensate for the loss in revenue if tariffs are lowered.

Lower tariffs mean less government income from that source and more taxes upon American taxpayers. Lower tariffs mean increased imports with fewer jobs for American workers and more jobs for European workers. Lower tariffs also mean a greater unfavorable balance of payments than at present and a consequent greater loss of our gold reserve. Is that what we want? Can we afford it?

WHAT MAKES OUR FEDERAL TAXES SO HIGH? The answer to that question is a "spendthrift congress" and an executive that has never had to "count the cost" or to "save the pennies". Our spendthrift congress authorizes and appropriates for the following:—

(a) pork-barrel expenditures, (b) foreign give-aways, (c) public housing projects, (d) vast irrigation projects to make desert acres fertile, (e) programs to set aside and make fertile acres idle, (f) billions for outer space exploration, (g) world peace corps personnel, etc., etc., etc.

Many of the above costly items of government expenditures are, in the opinion of the writer, unsound, unnecessary, and extravagant. They place a heavy tax burden upon the average American taxpayer. It is such expenditures as these that have run the cost of the Federal government up from $6 billion in 1937 to $92.5 billion the President is now asking for 1963.

KENNEDY'S NEW FRONTIER: "The New Frontier", a catch phrase coined by President Kennedy's backers during the campaign in 1960, was a perfect political slogan. It promised everything and meant nothing.

In view of President Kennedy's state of the union message, we now feel that the President proposes everything, but will be willing to accept what the congress gives him. As one writer put it: "He proposes to extend federal control and supervision over juvenile delinquency, education, medical care, housing, transportation, small business, urban health and welfare, and even proposes to subsidize the arts."

The "come-on" for all this political confidence game is as old as the hills -- "to be paid

READ LUKE 22: 39-46

Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me; nevertheless not my will, but thine, be done. (Luke 22: 42.)

During my sister's illness, I learned the importance of obedience. When she was in bed, she obeyed the doctor's orders completely. She did not refuse the shots. She ate only the food the doctor recommended, tho she did not care for it.

Almighty God is a spiritual doctor for us. He created us and knows everything about us, what is wrong with us, and what we are capable of doing if we yield our lives to Him. Sometimes the things He asks of us seems almost impossible, yet we must obey God even if it puts us in very hard circumstances. Jesus Himself was willing to suffer death that the world might be saved.

When we surrender our wills to God and obey His commands we find He uses us in helping many others. At the same time He will put right whatever may be wrong in our own lives.

PRAYER: O Father, we thank Thee that Christ was willing to give Himself on the cross for our sins, that we might be reconciled to Thee. Help us this day to say, "Not my will, but thine," and to obey Thy commands as they are revealed to us. We ask this in the name of Christ our Lord. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
God works with greatest power through the life fully obedient to Him.

Death Claims L-W Teacher One Of 30 N.L. Woman In U.S. To Get Institute Bid

Mrs. Frieda Goldschmidt, 84 years old, late of 261 W. Wood st., New Lenox, died Thursday, March 15, at Silver Cross hospital. She had been a resident of New Lenox since 1948, coming there from Chicago.

She is survived by one son, Paul, of New Lenox, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday, March 19, from the Baskerville chapel, McRoberts road and U.S. 30, New Lenox, to the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church at 1 o'clock with the Rev. Leonard Reinke officiating.

Interment was in Mt. Greenwood cemetery, Chicago.

Lloyd C. Merick, Math teacher at Lincoln-Way high school, recently received word that he was selected as a participant in the Bowling Green University academic year institute in mathematics for secondary school teachers.

Bowling Green State university's purpose in conducting the institute is to provide study programs of varying length, difficulty, and intensity for qualified teachers and to supplement these programs with practical experience with modern curricular materials. The objectives of the institutes are:

1) To strengthen the competence of teachers in the principal areas of mathematics

2) To familiarize teachers with modern developments in the curriculum and teaching of mathematics

3) To broaden the mathematical horizons of teachers thru instruction in portions of mathematics not traditionally part of the undergraduate teacher-training program.

It is anticipated that institute study will prepare participants not only to use modern curricular materials effectively in their own class rooms, but also to assist other teachers in the use of such materials.

Mr. Merick's cash stipend will equal his present salary as a teacher in the Lincoln-Way high school. He will also complete his Master's degree in mathematics.

Only 30 teachers in secondary Math thruout the United States were chosen for this high honor.

Nurses Get Refresher Course

The second refresher course for graduate nurses at Silver Cross hospital will begin classes on Tuesday, April 3 and continue on Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. for a period of 12 weeks.

The course includes 60 hours of class room work plus supervised clinical experience in all nursing departments. Enrollment will be limited to a number that can be well supervised. A tuition fee covering cost of materials will be charged.

Baseball Main Topic At Park Board Meeting

Baseball was the main topic of discussion at the March 22 meeting of the Mokena park district commissioners. Most of the week nights during the baseball season will see much activity on the park diamonds. The Church league plays on Tuesday nights, with Little League on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Charles Graham appeared at the meeting to request use of the big diamond for a baseball team of young men of the community. They would like to practice one night a week and play one night a week at the park, and also occasional Sundays.

Routine business was conducted during the remainder of the meeting. The Commissioners are considering the purchase of an additional piece of play equipment at this time.

The next meeting of the Mokena park board will be on the last Thursday of April in the village hall.

LW Sponsors Mat Tourney For Graders

The fourth annual grade school wrestling tournament to be staged at Lincoln-Way high school April 6 and 7 is expected to draw teams from all grade schools in the area, according to Ronald Larsen, L-W mat coach who originated and directs the tourney.

New Lenox grade school has won the title two years hand-running 1960 and 1961 and Ann Rutledge has tied for second place for the past three consecutive years. Last year Mokena also wound up in second place. Mokena won the event one year.

To help the boys prepare for the tournament Larsen arranged for them to have practice sessions in the high school gym.

There are 10 weight divisions, beginning at 70 pounds and running up to unlimited, which covers the heavyweights. The other classes -- 79 pounds, 87 pounds, 95 pounds, 103, 112, 120, 129 and 135 pounds. So anything from 136 pounds up can be termed a heavyweight.

A trophy will be awarded the winning school. This is a traveling trophy but the school that wins it three times gets to keep it. New Lenox thus has two legs on the cup and will be out to clinch possession this spring.

Individuals awards will be given to the winners of the first, second and third places in each weight class.

These matches are open to the public and the first round will begin at 7 p.m. April 6; semi-finals are to be 10 a.m. April 7 and the consolation and final matches are to begin at 2 p.m.

Scandinavia includes Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Iceland.

ABSTRACTS

Have you ever wondered what a lawyer or realtor means when he speaks of an "abstract of title?" Stated most generally, an abstract of title is a summary of all the transactions, such as sales or mortgages, which have taken place concerning a particular piece of land since it has been privately owned.

For example, take lot 10 in block 3 of Paddock's New Home subdivision, a hypothetical parcel of land in Wayne county. The U.S. Government originally owned this lot, and in 1820 the government conveyed it and many adjoining parcels to Christopher Jones.

The essential facts in this conveyance will be shown as the first entry in the abstract for lot 10. Likewise, each subsequent transaction affecting the title to lot 10 is set out, chronologically, right down to things that happened last month or even last week.

What sort of transactions are mentioned in abstracts of title? Many of the entries in the abstract for lot 10 describe deeds conveying lot 10 or any part of it, together with a reference to the book and page in the county recorder's office where a copy of the actual deed can be found.

The abstract will also contain a note of the death of any owner of lot 10 and a reference to the proceedings in the deceased's estate. The abstract concisely explains any provision of the deceased's will involving lot 10, or if there is no will, the names of known heirs are listed.

Similarly, the abstract shows mortgage or tax foreclosure proceedings relating to the property, and the bankruptcy of an owner. These are only a few examples of common abstract entries which should make an unbroken chain of conveyances from the United States to the present owner, but sometimes do not.

As you can see, almost all the information in the abstract is obtained from local records. The law requires that deeds and mortgages be filed for record in the county recorder's office and all estate, foreclosure and bankruptcy proceedings are similarly set out in the county records. But when you want to buy lot 10 and the seller wants to show you he can give you good title, instead of spending several days floundering thru the old county records he goes to the local abstractor who continues the old abstract or prepares a complete one from the beginning if the seller does not have one. For a fee based on the number of items involved the abstractor will review the county records and furnish the seller with an up-to-date "book" or abstract showing the history of the title to the property involved.

But buyers must realize that merely because the seller has a current abstract which shows a transfer to him, this is far from adequate proof of mer-chantable title. The important and technical task of evaluating abstract entries must be done by competent legal counsel, who is able to decide whether the seller's "title" is good and free from defects.

Endorse Mance For State Representative

Judge Harold W. Mance, Village of Hodgkins Police Magistrate and popular Democratic figure from Lyons Township has been unanimously endorsed by the Cook County Democratic Central Committee for the Office of State Representative from the Second District in the April 10 Primary Election. A life-long resident of the Second District, he resides with his wife and daughter at 6504 Kimball Ave., in Hodgkins, Ill.

Judge Mance has grown up with the suburbs and he is deeply concerned with the problems that have come with this growth. He believes that the home owner is carrying too much of the burden by paying exorbitant Personal and Real Estate Taxes and that a constitutional amendment should be placed before the General Assembly in a special session this Spring to outline other sources of revenue. Mance believes that the Franchise Corporation tax should be increased, because the large Corporations are not carrying their fair share of the load.

Mance quoted Jack Mabley of the Chicago American, who reported that the tax on bread and milk is reaching an all-time high, but the efforts to raise the State's take from the winner's pool at the race track was resisted as if they had attacked motherhood.

According to Mance, Illinois spends more to subsidize each Illinois bred and foaled colt than it spends per child on education.

He stated flatly that he is against any form of state or local income taxation.

YOUR CANDIDATES ANSWER

Two of the candidates who are considered nearly automatic choices in the coming April 10 Primary election are Democrat Richard E. Friedman and Republican Edward J. Derwinski.

Both men are running for Representative in the U. S. Congress from the 4th District and expect to meet in the November general election. Derwinski is the present incumbent.

The two candidates were asked the same six questions and their answers are reproduced here for you.

Derwinski's Answers..

1. Do you feel President Kennedy has exceeded his powers in ignoring the "peril points" on the GATT reciprocal trade program, and why?

1. I feel the President is definitely exceeding his powers in ignoring the "peril points" in the recent tariff negotiations since the intent of Congress and the reciprocal trade act, as passed by the Congress, clearly spells out the President's limitations. Since, traditionally, tariffs have been processed as revenue measures, the Executive Department's excessive agreements violate the principle of Congressional authority in that field.

2. Can you justify the spending of taxpayers money for aid to Communist nations like Poland and Yugoslavia and to red-lining neutrals like Indonesia, Ghana and India and why?

2. The size and scope of the Kennedy Administration foreign aid program are staggering, impractical and, in my opinion, show complete disregard for the American taxpayer. The foreign aid program has been a costly and badly administered failure. It is especially inconsistent to be providing foreign aid to Communist Yugoslavia and Poland while proclaiming that the program is needed to stop Red expansion. Aid to any Communist country is a tragic mistake and is an example of the complete impracticality of State Department policies.

3. What would you propose to solve the scandalous farm surplus and price support program, and will the farmers be socialized as the Agriculture Department now is proposing?

3. The Administration's farm bill is, in my opinion, a fantastic scheme that would abuse the taxpayer, the consumer, and the farmer without solving any of the basic problems caused by our agricultural surpluses. The taxpayer should be spared from an expansion of the present costly farm program. The consumer deserves relief from artificially high prices and the farmer should not be regimented. I am hopeful that the Congress will reject the Administration's proposals and instead write a realistic bill with emphasis on a return to free marketing of farm products and reduction of unrealistic price supports.

4. Is organized labor enjoying the benefits of monopolistic practice? If so, should the government regulate them?

4. The question of possible monopolistic practices by organized labor has not been the subject of detailed Congressional study and government regulation obviously would depend on legislative steps which must first be taken in that field. Congress passed the Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill in 1959 to give rank and file union members control of their organizations and protection from unscrupulous labor bosses. Further labor legislation does not appear imminent.

5. How much Federal Aid to Education is justified, if any?

5. I constantly advocate proposals which would return directly to each state a portion of the Federal income tax collected within its boundaries. These funds would then be appropriated by the states to our schools without the red tape of Federal control. Federal funds invariably bring Federal control which would be detrimental to our local school districts. It is my firm conviction that the Federal Government, with its huge, cumbersome bureaucracy, cannot appreciate local situations which, especially in school matters, are best served by understanding and dedicated community residents.

6. What steps will you take, if elected, to see that the plans for expansion of the Illinois waterway are completed? Do you feel this expenditure of money will benefit the State and the Nation?

6. The plans for expansion of the Illinois waterway are moving according to the Corps of Engineers' schedule, and the bottleneck caused by the Western Avenue bridge has been broken. The widening of the Cal-Sag channel, highway and bridge construction will continue as planned. In addition, removal and realignment of railroad bridges over the Little Calumet River have been approved, and plans for deepening that channel are proceeding. Therefore, the economic potential of Lake Calumet Harbor and the Cal-Sag channel project is being effectively advanced, and the cooperation and coordination of local, state and government agencies have been and will continue to be excellent.

Meet Your Candidates

Friedman's Answers..

1. Do you feel President Kennedy has exceeded his powers in ignoring the "peril points" on the GATT reciprocal trade program, and why?

1. The recent meetings of the GATT at Geneva have been characterized by hard bargaining. Our representatives have been severely restricted in their ability to negotiate because of existing legislation.

President Kennedy has stayed within his legislative limitation, but it is vital that he should be given appropriate legislation that will give our negotiators power for across-the-board cuts rather than product by product negotiation.

We sell far more goods abroad than we buy from the rest of the world. In order to maintain this position, we must realize that the economy of the world is not static, and that the advent of the Common Market and the industrialization of emerging nations has changed our traditional notions of foreign trade.

There is a tendency to set up protective barriers and tariffs against our goods. In order to counteract this tendency and to protect our position of predominance in world trade, we must offer concessions to nations who need to sell to us if they are to buy from us.

There will be dislocation of industry resulting from the anticipated tariff changes. It is hoped that these negative effects will be minimized in the process of achieving the greater good of insuring our position as the leader in world trade in future years.

2. Can you justify the spending of taxpayers money for aid to Communist nations like Poland and Yugoslavia and to red-lining neutrals like Indonesia, Ghana and India and why?

The U. S. has spent two billion dollars in providing Yugoslavia with aid since its break with Moscow in 1948. We have provided 700 million dollars to Poland since its anti-Soviet uprising in 1956.

We are aware of the potentially negative effects of this aid, and we have cut our total aid to Yugoslavia to one-half, and to Poland by two-thirds. This is consistent with my position that all foreign aid must be re-examined with a view toward its more efficient use and possible reduction, provided that our position of world strength is not jeopardized. We have also insisted that re-payment of these loans be made in dollars, thus somewhat lessening the actual cost of the loan.

I favor continued aid to these nations. There is a distinction between the real sentiment of the people of these countries and their Communist rulers. This popular feeling enabled President Tito to break with Moscow, and led to the Polish revolt. We must protect this spirit of independence by more than words.

We have good reason to help

Roy C. Doerfler Running For Will County Sheriff

Roy C. Doerfler, 15 Earl St., Joliet, one of the standard bearers of the Republican party in Will county, seeks his party's nomination for sheriff in the April 10 primary election.

Doerfler has the background and training to serve as the county's chief law enforcement officer. He has behind him a brilliant 17-year record as a deputy, criminal investigator and sheriff.

He first won unanimous appointment to the post of sheriff upon the death of the late Ernest E. Overbey when the Will county board of supervisors filled the vacancy. Doerfler subsequently was elected to another four-year term.

Doerfler has an unusually outstanding record to qualify himself for the job. He is a graduate of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Police academy and has also been awarded a degree by J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, for having successfully completed a post graduate course in criminal investigation.

His training and methods employed as sheriff are reflected in a decline in crime in Will county during his regime.

There were no unsolved murders or major criminal assault cases within the jurisdiction of the sheriff's office during his tenure as sheriff or investigator.

For most candidates for sheriff, it is a four-year political job. But Doerfler is a law enforcement officer by profession, and judges, newspaper men and other officials will attest to the long hours he devotes to the office.

Doerfler has been lauded by police officials thruout the nation for his intelligent application toward crime prevention as well as its solution.

A firm and fearless officer, Doerfler's soft-spoken methods have proven successful.

He has a philosophy that a police officer should have the discerning eye to distinguish the innocent law offender from the hardened criminal.

Doerfler does not believe that every offender should be arrested and thrown into jail. He believes that on many occasions where adults or juveniles are minor law offenders, more can be gained thru counsel and help rather than punishment.

His humanitarian understanding has made him many friends of parties of mended homes.

A firm believer that a clean county is a good county, Doerfler has long been a foe of vice and gambling. Under his previous regime, Will county gained the reputation for being one of Illinois' cleanest counties.

Altho the sheriff's staff has been undermanned over the year, Doerfler hopes to seek greater protection over the rural and remote areas of the county. He said that he has a plan which he will present to the county board of supervisors should the voters return him to office.

Married to the former Mabel Dent, Doerfler has two children, Roy Jr., and Mrs. John Shaw Jr.

He has been active in civic affairs and an active participant in traffic safety, particularly where it pertains to the protection of school children.

Scott Wins Endorsements For Treasurer

Powerful endorsements in metropolitan Chicago this week were added to the statewide support piling up for William J. Scott, young Evanston lawyer and banker, who is a leading candidate for the Republican nomination for State Treasurer in the April 10 Primary.

Edward Price, Republican Committeeman of the 49th Ward, whose 100 precincts make it the largest ward in Chicago, announced that the 49th Ward Regular Republican organization is supporting Scott "on the basis of his experience, personality and ability---exactly the kind of young man who will gain votes for the whole Republican ticket in November."

The influential Chicago Sun-Times editorially gave Scott its full endorsement, and set forth his "background of experience in public service, having been an assistant U.S. attorney under Robert Ticken. In 1959, Scott was in charge of a crackdown on syndicate vice and gambling operations in Calumet City." The Sun-Times endorsement concluded: "...we shall mark our sample ballot for Scott, the banker and syndicate fighter, to be watchdog of the people's millions in the state treasury."

Bormet Running For Orland GOP Committeeman

Harold Bormet, 44, resides with his wife, Helen, and their 5 children at 168th St. & 80th Ave., Tinley Park, (Orland Township).

He has pledged a more active and progressive Republican Party in Orland Township. Under his guidance the Orland Township Regular Republican Organization was recently incorporated and granted a non-profit charter by Secretary of State Charles Carpentier. This is his first step in reactivating and rebuilding the Republican organization in Orland.

A life-long resident of Orland Township, Bormet has long been active in Republican politics in Orland Township. He has served 16 continuous years as a Republican precinct captain in Orland.

Because of his activity in civic and community affairs, as well as in Republican politics, Bormet is running unopposed as Orland Township Republican Committeeman.

Lucas Is Orland Twp. Candidate For Committeeman

Herbert P. Lucas is an Orland township candidate for Democratic committeeman.

Lucas was born Aug. 8, 1911 in Orland Township, attended Grade School #138, St. Joseph High School, St. Joseph College in Hinsdale and is a Veteran of World War II.

He resides in Orland Park and is a member of St. Michael's Church.

Moore Seeks Re-election As Bremen GOP Committeeman

The "Township Committeeman" in Cook County, is an elected party official. The term of office is 4 years. He is elected to this post in the Primary Election on April 10. The post is non-salaried. There are 30 "Township Committeemen" in Suburban Cook County (one for each Township) and 50 "Ward Committeemen" in the City of Chicago (one for each Ward). Each political party elects a Committeeman from each Ward and Township in Cook County. This group, when assembled, is known as the "Cook County Republican Central Committee", and is responsible for the policies and candidates of the Republican Party in Cook County.

The "Township Committeeman" is likewise responsible for the Republican Party in his Township. He is the leader of the Party and as such is responsible for building the Republican Party in his Township and seeing that Republicans are elected to Public Office in his Township. No decision can be made regarding the Party without his approval. In effect he IS the Republican Party.

The success of any Committeeman, depends naturally, on how many citizens he can unite together to work jointly for Republican victories. His success must come from past political experiences and his ability.

Don Moore's educational background and his first hand knowledge of the problems of Bremen Township are a great asset to him in being an effective leader. His past experiences in the Republican Party: a precinct captain for eight years, as officer and director of the Bremen Township regular Republican organization, and as Republican Township Committeeman for the past 6 years, has given him an insight into the practical aspect of Republican Politics that is possessed by few men in Bremen Township.

Moore's innovation of decentralizing the Republican Party in Bremen Township through the creation of local Village Republican Clubs, has attracted attention throughout the State. He is the first Township Committeeman to try this new endeavor to attract grass-roots Republicans and give them something to do. His idea of having a lot of people do a little, instead of a few people doing a lot, has brought the Republican Party in Bremen Township to its strongest position in over 20 years.

Through Moore's leadership the following local Republican Clubs are now in existence and working effectively: Tinley Park Republican Club; Markham Republican Club; Oak Forest Republican Club; Hazel-Crest--Homewood Republican Club; Country Club Hills Republican Club; Midlothian Republican Club; Robbins Republican Club. Each member of a local club is automatically a member of the Bremen Township Regular Republican Organization, which now boasts a membership in excess of 1,000.

As far as political activities in Bremen Township, the Republican Party can now boast of 10 out of the 12 elected Township Officials are Republicans, the most Republicans ever to hold office during the past 20 years. The Bremen Township Election of April, 1961, was a major political upset in Suburban Cook County.

Gardner Runs For 4th Dist. Committeeman

Russell J. Gardner, Markham's village president and candidate for Republican State Central Committeeman, stated this week that what we need for the 4th Congressional District Republicans is not only the desire to be Republicans but the binding together of all elected Township Committeemen into a unit which he chooses to call the "Fightin' 4th". He feels that the 4th District Township Committeemen have never had a state committeeman that would get up and scrap if necessary for the wants and needs of the south and west suburban Republicans.

He further stated "Due to the lack of drive and complacency of the incumbent State Central Committeeman, I have found that north and northwestern area Republican organizations consider 95th St. as the dropping-off place and feel we are still shooting Indians out here. I well know that township Republican organizations function well in the 4th but their message is not being received at the top level of the organization."

This, he states, is the responsibility of the State Central Committeeman. He points to the coming primary and says, "Where, other than district offices and one county board post, has the 4th Congressional District been considered such as the county ticket? We have the strongest and most qualified Republicans available in the 4th district and they have been 'short circuited'".

Russell J. Gardner is 38 and lives at 15557 S. Ridgeway, Markham. He graduated from Lindblom High School of that city. His employment included the following:

Crane Co. as Sales and Cashier
Whiting Corp. Public Relations & Assnt. Advertising Manager.
Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. Architectural Representative

Caloric Range Co. South Builder and Apt. House Mgr.

Krusemark Running For State Senator

Albert H. Krusemark, GOP candidate for state senator in the 41st Senatorial District, is waging a vigorous campaign keyed to two decisive factors:

1. His own record of proven experience, maturity and sound judgment.

2. A clear-cut program reflecting the basic principles of conservative Republicanism.

Because he believes the people are entitled to know exactly where a candidate stands, Krusemark has consistently spelled out his views on major issues in all his appearances before Republican voters in campaign meetings throughout Du Page County and Will

County.

His political philosophy, Krusemark says, is rooted in the twin bedrocks of true conservatism--respect for the taxpayer's dollar and an insistence on government in the hands of the people.

That philosophy is evident in the program which Krusemark has presented to voters of the district. In his many platform appearances, he has declared:

1. He is unalterably opposed to a state income tax in any form. History has proven, he says, that any such tax will become an ever-increasing burden.

2. He is against the type of welfare state philosophy that believes the individual must be taken care of by the government from "the cradle to the grave." He strongly advocates and believes in our free enterprise system.

3. He is against the erosion of the value of the dollar by the inflationary tendencies that have been sponsored by various government programs. This has placed an undue and unnecessary hardship on our senior citizens.

4. He is in favor of revision of the state Revenue Article to meet present conditions and to permit the classification of property for tax purposes.

5. He is for equalization of the tax structure so as to cut down the disproportionate share of real estate taxes borne by the property owner, the home owner, the farm owner and the business owner. Today from the county level on down, the property owner is paying over 80 per cent of all our taxes.

6. He is for strict economy and a sound fiscal policy for the State of Illinois.

7. He is for fostering and safeguarding the highest educational standards and opportunities for our children.

8. He is for strengthening of local government and making secure the rights and initiative of the individual citizen.

"Republican leadership and Republican voters want their candidate to take a strong, clear-cut stand on campaign issues," Krusemark said in a recent speech. "I believe people as a whole are becoming more and more aware of the evils in the centralization of government. They are becoming increasingly aware that sound business judgment must be applied to our governmental processes, and that government is best administered on a local level by the people most directly affected by its action."

In seeking voter support, Krusemark also has cited the depth and diversity of his experience. These are some of the highlights of his legal, business and civic background:

He has been a successful practicing attorney for 23 years in Joliet under the firm name of Krusemark and Bertani.

He was an assistant state's attorney of Will County in 1948-52 and is a past president of the Will County Bar Assn.

He has been attorney for the Village of Frankfort, seven different school districts and various other taxing bodies.

He has been president of the Frankfort State Bank for nine years.

He has been president of the Lincoln-Way High School Dis-strict since its formation 10 years ago.

A lifelong Republican, he has been a precinct committeeman for the last 13 years and a member of the Will County Republican Central Committee for eight years.

E. B. Workman Seeks Re-election As Will County Probate Clerk

Ellsworth B. "Web" Workman is seeking re-election to the office of Clerk of the Probate Court of Will County, on the Republican Ballot in the primary election of April 10, 1962.

Workman says, "My past experience and knowledge in this office are my qualifications, and I will guarantee the same service and respect for the people of Will County regardless of party affiliations. I have been a resident of the County all my life with the exception of three months at my birthplace which was Coal City, Ill., and now reside with my wife and son, Noel at 601 Cowles Avenue, Joliet. Before entering public office, I was employed by the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway Company.

"I have been very active in nearly all community and civic affairs for the past number of years, as well as various clubs and organizations. Again my sincere thanks to the voters for giving me the opportunity to serve the people of Will County, in the past, and hope that I will be able to serve them once again."

Fawell Tries For State Senator Job

Meet Your Candidates
Supplement Mar. 29 Page 9

Harris Fawell, Republican candidate for State Senator from the 41st District, started to seek the 1962 nomination four years ago when he came within a whisker of upsetting the incumbent.

"I believe to expect the public's confidence a candidate must earn their respect. I didn't wait to be coaxed into seeking office, I didn't hold-out for political blessings. I started this campaign on the heels of the 1958 primary. I believe in grass - roots campaigning and grass-roots representation," Fawell concluded.

Campaigning with the slogan "Positive Republicanism," Fawell has taken a stand on every major issue and has outlined exact legislation he would promote.

Fawell's program to trim political pork from the state budget has received wide-spread attention. His five-point program includes:

1. To require the Governor to present his budget message earlier during the General Assembly session.
2. To change the report deadline for the Director of Finance. At present this report is filed with the chief executive in January.
3. To increase the staff and budget of the Illinois Budgetary Commission.
4. To remove the governor from membership on the Illinois Budgetary Commission.
5. To require the Illinois Budgetary Commission to hold public reviews of expenditures at regularly appointed intervals between and during legislative sessions.

A former DuPage assistant State's Attorney, Fawell has gone on record favoring the creation of an Illinois Crime Commission aimed at "dealing a death blow to the henchmen of organized crime whose estimated annual income in the Chicago area exceeds $2 1/2 billion."

Fawell has vigorously opposed the present administration's state income tax plan, labeling it "nothing more than a naked grab for more fodder for political patronage."

"In reality, it doesn't make a hill of beans how an individual legislator stands on this issue. Passing a state income tax in Illinois isn't a power our Constitution gives to Senators and Representatives. It's a power reserved with the people -- right where it should be. But for the record I'm against the reckless program of the opposition party," Fawell stated.

Fawell has gone on record opposing any increase in the state franchise tax; he is an outspoken opponent of branch banking; he favors calling a Constitutional Convention.

The aggressive campaigner has outlined legislation to strengthen local government by giving counties the powers to police, prosecute and control stream pollution. He patterns his proposal after 1961 legislation that finally empowered counties and municipalities to remove stream obstructions.

Sensitive to the taxation demands on property owners, Fawell has pledged to help revamp the badly outdated Illinois Revenue Articles, stating "Republicans must be ready with a positive problem to protect the public." His pledge includes fiscal responsibility with emphasis on wiser, more economical state government, more taxpayer returns on tax dollars.

"The foremost problem is for the people of Illinois to get the best return possible on taxes already being collected, not on how and where to collect more taxes," Fawell stated.

"I believe in hard work. I started to scratch my own way in the world as a teenager when I began saving money for my college education. While an undergraduate at North Central College, Naperville, I worked as a truck driver, railroad section hand, construction crew member and at a dozen odd jobs to finance my education," he said.

Fawell was graduated from College Kent College of Law. He served four years as an Assistant State's Attorney.

In 1956 Harris Fawell successfully spearheaded a drive to keep a multi-million dollar race track enterprise from locating in DuPage County, near Naperville.

He has served the Republican Party as past-president of the Naperville Young Republicans, a former member of the DuPage Young Republican County Board and resigned his position on the Board on the DuPage Republican workshop organization to campaign for State Senator.

Fawell is married to a former school teacher, the former Ruth Johnson. The family includes Dick 7; Jane, 5 and John, 2.

Tanner Is Write-In Candidate For 2nd Dist. Representative

Joe Tanner, former village president of Evergreen Park and a leader in the South Suburban Drainage Council, has announced his candidacy for Republican State Representative of the Second District on a write-in campaign in the April 10 primary election.

"Due to the unfortunate death of Harold Hoover of Palos Park," Tanner said, "a vacancy has occurred for the office of Representative of the Second District. My many friends throughout the seven townships in the district have urged me to become a candidate. I have acceded to their requests."

Continuing, Tanner said: "Republicans throughout the Second District feel it is better to nominate a candidate on the ballot April 10 than to have a seven-man committee pick a man to fill the Hoover vacancy in the November election."

Tanner said Harold Hoover's name will appear with Terrel Clarke's on the ballot. Although Hoover died last week, it is impossible to have his name removed from the voting list, Tanner pointed out.

In order to be nominated for the office, Tanner must poll more votes than Hoover, it was stated.

Tanner is well known in the Southwest area, and has been an active member of the Southwest Drainage Council, a group fighting for better drainage in the area.

Friends and elected officials throughout the Second District say they prevailed upon Tanner to become a candidate because of his 12 years of municipal government experience and excellent record while in office.

Clara Hartley

Woodard Running For County Clerk

Clara Hartley Woodard, 511 N. Reed St., Joliet, a Republican, 46, who has been a deputy County Clerk and office manager in the office of her father, County Clerk Joseph H. Hartley for the past 23 years, is seeking the nomination of the office of County Clerk of Will County, on the Republican ticket. She has supervised and worked in all the many departments of this office and through her efforts and thorough supervision she has modernized many of these departments, including the card index files of vital statistics records.

The birth, marriage and death card index files are one of the most modern and efficient methods in the state. A vital statistics record can be checked in a matter of minutes, which is a great time saver both for the public and office personnel.

Through her efforts Will County was one of the first in the state to school election judges before each election (the Legislature in 1961 has now made this compulsory).

Clara has worked with all election judges to strive to improve election procedure both for the public and election judges. Born in Torino, Will County, (near Braidwood), a Methodist, educated in the Joliet Grade schools and graduate of the Joliet Twp. High school. She is the wife of Milo A. Woodard a dispatcher at the Public Service Company.

Yugoslavia as long as it does not engage in foreign aggression or become emmeshed with Russia; the Polish people have forced reforms that have made them the freest of the Soviet satellites. The aid we give to these nations has permitted the spirit of freedom to circulate behind the iron curtain, and this spirit should be encouraged.

In our uncertain situation we cannot afford to forsake any nation that may become democratic as a result of our patience and help. Some of these nations would certainly turn to the Communist block if we failed to help them. Ghana, as an example, would look to Russia for guidance if we failed in our commitment to them.

We must recognize the cultural and social differences between these nations and ourselves, and that democracy for many of them is a new experience. We do not desire to force these nations into our own image, but to help them attain their freedom and independence from foreign control. The surest way to stop progress of our ideas would be to terminate aid to these non-democratic nations.

3. What would you propose to solve the scandalous farm surplus and price support program, and will the farmers be socialized as the Agriculture Department now is proposing?

The law of supply and demand as the determinants of market price of farm products is unrealistic while we cannot use all we can produce. Our farm surplus has developed over twenty years and its solution will not be instantaneous.

Limited government control over farm products is necessary. If supports were ended immediately, there would be a sharp drop in farm prices and income. The small family farm, as we know it, would cease to exist. In its place we would have huge corporate enterprises that would be in a position to take advantage of the distress of the small farmer. It would also wreck many small businessmen who depend on their income from the local farmer.

In terms of economics, an oligopolistic situation would be created where huge corporate farms could enforce a managed scarcity, limiting supply to a point where their operation would be highly profitable. The result would be the passing of the independent small farm and the certainty of higher food costs for each consumer family.

At present four-fifths of our agricultural expenditure is devoted to maintaining farm income. There is a necessary transition period during which the small farmer must make production adjustments based on increased production efficiency.

Long range plans can be developed that take into account a gradually decreasing surplus and removal of supports. In the meantime, we should pursue handling of the surplus by insisting that storage prices are realistic, and the Food for Peace Plan, and government-donated food plan for depressed areas be further implemented.

4. Is organized labor enjoying the benefits of monopolistic practice? If so, should the government regulate them?

I am in favor of legislation that will further the valid aims of labor and the principle of collective bargaining. At the same time, I would insist that the few instances of corruption and other detrimental activities within the labor movement be corrected. I am in accord with President Kennedy's position that the best interest of the nation must also be served in the interaction between management and labor.

The possibilities of "monopolistic practice" of unions have been severely curtailed. The provision of the Taft-Hartley Act prohibits secondary boycotts, "hot-cargo" activities, and other similar conduct by unions. The Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act protects the public interest from illicit financial deals, by union officials and unions.

Government regulation of organized labor is necessary; it is also necessary to regulate the activities of business. These elements of our national economy are vital to the progress of our nation and they must cooperate with each other while at the same time advancing their own best interests.

It is not realistic to measure business solely on its size, nor to evaluate unions on their relative strength. There is a responsibility imposed on both industry, organized labor, and government to solve chronic unemployment and other problems resulting from the changing patterns of our industrialized society.

5. How much Federal Aid to Education is justified, if any?

There is a distinct historical obligation of the government to assure its citizens of an adequate education. The adequacy of our nation's educational system is being challenged abroad by advances in Soviet technology, and by a need for greater skills in our domestic job market.

Some states have been unable or unwilling to keep pace with the greater demands of education for its Citizens. Education should continue to be handled locally, provided that it meets at least minimum standards.

The anticipated danger of federal aid to education lies in the possibility of the federal government usurping the traditional responsibility of local administration of education.

Education is expensive, and it is the responsibility of the federal

Clarke Runs For Bremen Township Committeeman

Harry Clarke, Democratic Township Committeeman for Bremen Township, for the past 34 years, is running again for reelection in the April 10 primary.

Carl Relli, from Markham, is once again his challenger. Mr. Relli again makes his specious charges about being endorsed by the Regular Democratic Party. In Bremen Township Clarke is known as "Mr. Democrat".

The only pledge Clarke makes is to re-affirm the fact that he and his organization have always maintained a policy of not meddling in village or school government or local politics. He asserts members of his organization are free to support whomever they wish but never in the name of the "Democratic Party."

government to assist local administration of education to achieve higher standards. This can be done without imposing any federally-generated attitude towards education unless the local educational authority abdicates or consistently fails its responsibility.

The present federal program provides $2.1 billion in federal grants for teachers' salaries and construction of educational facilities based on State pupil enrollment and per capita income, provided that State effort is maintained or increased. Federal grants are also available for improving the quality of teacher education, and for the building of classrooms where there has been a significant increase in enrollment. This program constitutes a proper exercise of federal assistance without domination or control of our traditional educational system.

6. What steps will you take, if elected, to see that the plans for expansion of the Illinois waterway are completed? Do you feel this expenditure of money will benefit the State and the Nation?

Work is going ahead on the Calumet-Sag channel. About 50 per cent of the $100 million project is completed, with anticipated completion of the entire project in 1966.

The realization of this goal will be accomplished in spite of the opposition of some local legislators who opposed local implementation of the Truman-Hobbs formula for bridge construction, and appropriations for other necessary work.

The Southwest suburban Cook County area is uniquely situated to enjoy the benefits of this program. It will serve as a connecting link between two great waterways, and will result in new industry, more jobs and increased prosperity for the area in the future.

It is the responsibility of a legislator to "take care of his own" so long as his action does not act to our national detriment. I consider it necessary to utilize imagination and innovation to enable our area to realize its great economic potential without being hamstrung by a consistently negative approach to the problems of government.

At a time when the emphasis on foreign trade is increasing, it is our obligation to our nation and state to develop our waterway system to its fullest.

When this Reporter interviewed Mr. James Jesk, Bremen Township Supervisor, and Mr. Rayson, Justice of the Peace of Bremen Township, these men both agreed that Mr. Clarke should be re-elected. Party leaders endorsed Clarke because:

(1) Clarke's long-standing prestige and association with the Cook County Central Committee of the Democratic Party enables him to get substantial political consideration and attention to Township problems.

(2) This long-time association has enabled Clarke to have more patronage jobs for this Township than any other comparable Township in Cook County.

(3) Clarke has stood for honesty and integrity in all public affairs and would fight against graft and corruption wherever found.

(4) The Bremen Township voting record for the Democratic Party has been unsurpassed by any other Township in Cook County the past decade.

(5) Clarke has the endorsement of all 46 precinct captains and officers of the Bremen Township Regular Democratic Organization and the endorsement of the Better Government Association as well.

Charles J. Schroll Aims For Bremen GOP Committeeman Post

Charles J. Schroll won a court decision to keep his petitions for nomination as GOP valid after being challenged by Bremen Township Assessor Walter Rhode in February.

Schroll is 42, and is making his second venture into politics. Four years ago he ran against his present opponent for the Bremen Township GOP Committeeman post also.

He has been extremely critical of the present committeeman and charges that the Republican clubs in the township are little more than social gatherings, that the Tax Reform Party's aim to cut taxes is unrealistic and that the GOP needs his aggressive abilities to grow and develop in Bremen Township.

Schroll has been a resident of the township for 37 years and has lived in Oak Forest, Midlothian and is presently residing at 15831 S. Trumbull, Markham. His family includes his wife, Pearl, a son Wayne 20, in the Air Force; a daughter, Nancy, 15 who is a sophomore at Mother of Sorrows High School and his other son, Jay, a second grader at St. Gerard Grade School, Markham.

Among his proposals for strengthening the Republican forces in Bremen Township are to approach new residents from the predominantly Democratic Chicago area who move into the township, with the full facts about the goals of the Republican Party.

Schroll also includes in his platform are some specific proposals for lowering taxes and establishing a township planning commission.

Why you should

for KRUSEMARK
for State Senator

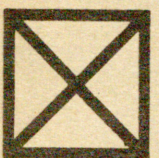

BECAUSE his record of proven experience, maturity and sound judgment — as attorney, bank president, school district president and successful dairy farmer — qualifies him above all other candidates as THE MAN FOR THE JOB. This is what retiring Sen. Lottie Holman O'Neill says of Al Krusemark: "On the basis of his qualifications and the depth of his legal, civic and business experience, I find that Albert H. Krusemark possesses the high standards of ability, judgment and integrity which make him the outstanding candidate for this office."

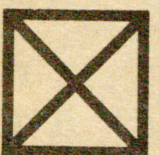

BECAUSE, as a Conservative Republican, Al Krusemark champions the basic philosophy of true conservatism — respect for the voter's dollars and an insistence upon government in the hands of the people. He still retains the old-fashioned notion that an elected public official should be concerned about what is being done with other people's money — the taxpayer's money.

BECAUSE he stands squarely for decisive policy on specific issues. Al Krusemark is FOR strict economy and fiscal stability in state government. He is AGAINST a state income tax. He is FOR equalization of the tax structure to correct a situation in which a disproportionate burden falls on the real estate property owner. He is FOR revenue reform. And he possesses the intelligence, courage and integrity to fight for his program and make it work for the people.

BECAUSE his long legal and business experience, his familiarity with tax and school problems, his extensive civic and welfare activities have given him a broad outlook which sees beyond county boundaries. He has the know-how to serve ALL the people of the district . . . and to serve them best.

BECAUSE he has been a lifelong Republican — as was his father before him — a Precinct Committeeman since 1948 and a member of the Central Executive Committee for the past eight years and a Recording Secretary of the Central Committee for the past four years. He believes in the principles of the Republican Party and will fight aggressively for them.
